What's New in this Release: Version 2.5 - After a lot of work on the new version of the font family I have decided to make it available in this release. The font family is now also available in the Sourceforge package. The latest version of fontforge is available also for Windows There was an update to the font family, a lot of things were improved and it is much more powerfull and it has now also support for openType features. To get an idea of what I mean, please take a look at the attached screenshots.

Version 2.4 - After a lot of work on the new version of the font family I have decided to make it available in this release. The font family is now also available in the Sourceforge package. The latest version of fontforge is available also for Windows

Version 2.3 - I have made a lot of little improvements to the OpenType features and the Missing Glyph feature but it's not ready for final version so the last release was to get the fonts available on this site.

Version 2.2 - The font face now has the full names and in my opinion it looks better.

Version 2.1 - Everything is adjusted to the newest versions of fontforge and fontawesome.

Version 2.0 - The font face now has the full names and in my opinion it looks better.

Version 1.5 - The old names are used. I believe it looks better to use the full names. Please don't use old names. All the italic fonts are deleted from the font folder. Do not use them anymore.

Version 1.4 - I have made a lot of little changes.

Version 1.3 - I have made some improvements to the font face and the italic fonts are added. Version 1.2 - Instead of installing files on your computer, I have just changed the URL of the fontface now. Version 1.1 - The font face

However, if you are looking for a sharp and modern font, you should use another font. Do you know what an author is? Are you a good or a bad author? People rate authors according to various factors. The judgments made by readers are not the same, but their reactions are similar. Readers change as they get older. They develop their own likes and dislikes. They form a mature state of consciousness that influences them. Yet we can still learn about this from their reactions to works of literature. As I consider what is good and what is bad in literature, my analysis shows that there are two sources of knowledge about it: epistemological and ontological. The former includes knowledge related to the way authors write, and the latter involves knowledge related to the literary things themselves. I want to focus on the latter. First of all, let me state the facts. I mean that the works that have been written in literature are a true miracle. It is a miracle because it is the outcome of a unique process of cooperation between a work of literature and a
