Anger and frustration can lead to hurting the person they are angry at, the person they are frustrated with, . It's been awhile since I've seen a full AVD (Android Virtual Device) config. I am probably able to use the Display, Audio, and Touch configs, or at least go in and change them. I suspect that it's one of the other configs that's bugging me. My old AVD config was more that a couple GBs big (going back to at least 3.2), and it ran very slow on my iPad 2. I am now down to a couple hundred MBs, and it ran reasonably fast. Based on a couple of threads I have read (and the inability to find any other answers), I'm thinking I have to create a new AVD config using an SD Card, and then copy over some older configurations. Here are some configs that seem like they might fit, and have someone suggest whether they are acceptable (or simply missing something), or whether they seem like they would work, but which do not provide an adequate solution. Of course, if I am headed in the correct direction, any configs given to me in the comments that might work to get me started can be included in this question. A: For Android, I used to have the 'Medium' OnePlus 6 hardware configuration and found that it worked ok. This was back in Android 3da54e8ca3
