Child pidgin The child pidgin icon can be installed with this software, and allows an instant messaging client such as Pidgin to be used as a chat tool in an operating system environment which does not have a full-fledged chat client. Child pidgin is free of charge for non-commercial use. There is an option in the support menu to register for a free license. Usage: The basic usage of this application is that a system can have the pidgin icon placed in the system tray along with the normal pidgin icon. The pidgin icon will appear inside the pangolin icon. When you click on this icon a new pangolin window appears, which is a complete copy of the pangolin icon. This new pidgin window can be minimized just as if you used pidgin normally. On exit, this window will automatically close, when you click on it or close the app. This process can also be done using the command line: pangolin --child pidgin More information is found in the manual in the help menu. Child pidgin can be used in Windows 2000, XP, Vista, Vista 64-bit or 7, and 8/8.1. Note Child pidgin and the pangolin icon are only an instant messaging client. Do not confuse it with a chat client.
