A solar power grid is a micro-grid covering many rooms of a building or a large area of a campus. We consider a scenario where the power generated by the solar panels are measured by a set of sensors installed in the rooms. The power is transmitted to the building via a set of low voltage cables and a transformer located in each room. In this paper we propose an optimal scheduling and planning algorithm for the solar power grid. The algorithm maximizes the total power generated, minimizes the total power lost, and generates an optimized schedule for each room to maximize the power output while using as little energy from the grid as possible. We also propose heuristics that are easy to implement and can be used as sub-optimal solutions for large scale solar grids.' author: - Vishal Garg - Himanshu Bansal - Alex Bireu - 'Radhakrishnan K. Pikmin 3's Canna Plant NPC Explained Nintendo has released new details regarding the Canna plants (also known as sugar groves) in Pikmin 3. The Canna plant is the first new enemy discovered, and is the first boss found in the game. At the Captain's Canna Plant, there are a series of transformations. At first, the Canna simply needs to be watered to get a mildly flavored beverage. As long as the plant is watered, it will slowly produce more Canna as its height increases. This will eventually cause the Canna to explode, damaging the surrounding environment. If the Canna is damaged or destroyed, it will cause a fountain of C
