Q: How to make multilingual app using phone gap I am building an app in phonegap, it will be developed in multiple languages I have heard that there is a plugin called internationalization and I can set the language on my html My question is can I make my phonegap app multilingual? I mean I can use the code below to set the language How can I implement this? A: Internationalization has been introduced for Android 4.4, 4.5 and 5.0. There is a more complete answer in this post. A: Actually if you are building an android application, you can even set the value of the application language from inside the application. Right click on your project in Eclipse Click Properties Select Android Click Target Change "Package name" and "Product Name" as required. Select "Values" option. Inside the "Values" options, you can set the application language from here, from drop-down box. Show HN: Basic Web crawling in Python using BeautifulSoup - VasiliosPodlouis For the last couple of weeks I have been experimenting with some Python, to see if it is worth me teaching myself. I came across a problem I needed to solve, so I decided to use Python to solve it, (for the first time).I am using BeautifulSoup (BS) to download a website. To my surprise
