What's new in Explodey - Sci-fi Side Scroller W 'splosions:

! Explodey ia a very good, highly effective side-scrolling shooter. Its interface is very intuitive and helps to make the game precise and enjoyable. The game has several options to control, including a HID joystick (hiddevice), and you can also change it via the options file (which is also really intuitive). The visuals are simple and are very attractive. The gameplay is based on 'exploding' asteroids coming from the top right to left (leftmost). These should be destroyed before landing on you. All the asteroids have a button that when pressed, they will explode. You fire one shot at a time from your safehouse. The asteroids will appear in a blur when spotted, and will stay unaffected by the explosions of other asteroids. The projectiles are split so that the shot can pass through multiple asteroids. This helps make the game somewhat easier. The projectiles can be destroyed by asteroids as well. A nice touch is that you can shoot at a 'temporal' asteroid, which will explode periodically (but not at the same time as the others). The soundtrack is a nice blend of different electronic music features. The physics and controls work wonderfully. It is a nice game. If it's not 'cheating', it's just a 'tricks' game. There's an 'overflow' button. You can press it to shoot a power shot from your safehouse. The game has a 'change settings' button in the options file. You can change the sensitivity and the number of 'temporal' asteroids in that option. A nice touch is that every 3 seconds, a siren will go off (if your ticket for that a week has been reached). The scroller will go for unlimited blocks. You can 'catch' the asteroids and these will cause you to lose points. I was playing this game while I was away from home, and it was easy to catch quite a few. The game has a 'reload' button. Be careful, however, or you will lose the point already in your bag. The rules of the game are very simple. Your safehouse can only be attacked once per minute from the 'shell'. You can move from room to room by entering, for
