We study the intramolecular conformational dynamics of a flexible molecular rotor in a nanosized spherical cavity. Intra-cavity orientation dynamics of different dihedral angles of the molecular rotor are studied using a Go-like model. The results of the molecular dynamics are correlated with the static structure factor of the nanosized cavity to quantify the contribution of the solvent to the structural properties of the system. Both the intra-cavity free energy barrier height and effective anisotropy of the rotor are studied. The free energy barrier height is decreased by the action of the solvent and is directly correlated to the solvent potential energy. The effective anisotropy of the rotor is modified by the solvation effect.Typical integrated circuit (IC) field programmable gate arrays (FPGAs) and application specific integrated circuit (ASICs) are fabricated in a relatively large number of "chips." The individual ICs making up the FPGA or ASIC can be designed in one or more "silicon libraries," which serve as a "factory" for fabricating the various ICs. During the fabrication process, the ICs in the silicon library are fabricated in a test tool, such as a "wafer prober." Subsequent to fabrication, the ICs are loaded into the silicon library for use in an actual system, such as a communications system, and sold to the customer. Despite the benefits of the silicon library, the silicon library can be quite expensive, and in many cases, a customer may not be able to afford the cost. Further, the customer must provide a base die and a connector to interface with the FPGA. Thus, the customer must purchase the base die and connector even if the FPGA is not desired or needed by the customer. Thus, the cost of an individual FPGA is not typically justifiable for many applications.Q: Extended class with generic type, superclass and List I have an exercise to make a ListAdapter extending an abstract class.

When I use the app, i input some data and it successfully stored successfully in sharedpreference. When I restart the app, I input the same data again, then I got an error that said: Caused by: java.lang.IllegalArgumentException: Double data must be > 0 If I use double in sharedPreference, I think that the I will get a issue that might happened when I insert new data again. I use long to store data. How to avoid this error? Thanks a lot! A: You have to handle the error while editing the SharedPreference data. @Override public void onTextChanged(CharSequence s, int start, int before, int count) { String s1 = s.toString(); //checking the data type here if(s1.charAt(s.length()) == '-' || s1.charAt(s.length()) == '.' || s1.charAt(s.length()) == '+') { //Here you can handle the error } Log.d("EditText", ""+s1); SharedPreferences pref = getSharedPreferences(PREF_FILE, Context.MODE_PRIVATE); SharedPreferences.Editor editor = pref.edit(); editor.putString("username", s1); editor.commit(); } For more info read Handling Common User Errors. t h e r e m a i n d e r w h e n 2 5 9 9 8 5 i s d i v i d e d b y 1 7 2 . 1 7 1 C a l c u l a t e t 0cc13bf012
