A thief appeared to be looking for a student to steal her mobile phone following an afternoon at the Lakemba Mosque. CCTV footage released by the school showed the female student had left her bag unattended in her classroom on Monday. The CCTV shows the thief walking casually up the corridor towards the student, who sits on the floor in her room, and takes out her mobile phone from her bag before slipping it into a zip-lock bag. It is not clear if the thief was someone she knows, or a stranger. The incident took place on Monday afternoon at Addison College on Kedron Ave, Lakemba. (Supplied) "We are saddened to hear what has happened to our student at Addison College. As soon as we became aware of the incident we liaised with police and this morning we informed the student and her parents," Andrew Haddad, principal of Addison College, said in a statement. "We remain committed to providing students with a safe and secure environment at school and our priority is to support this student. "A crime is a crime. We will ensure a thorough investigation is undertaken in this matter so that the perpetrator is held accountable for their actions. "Any person involved in this incident is subject to the College's Code of Student Conduct and the College will take all appropriate steps to ensure this person is not allowed to attend the College." Police said they were investigating the matter as a theft. "A person may have taken a mobile phone from the student's bag at an unknown time," Detective Inspector Paul Holzkecht said. "We have spoken to the student and family and it is believed the phone is a Samsung and a pink phone. "If anyone has any information, contact police."Surgical treatment of developmental tibial plateau fractures in children and adolescents. A series of 51 consecutive cases of developmental tibial plateau fractures in children and adolescents are retrospectively reviewed. Inclusion criteria were children and adolescent patients with tibial plateau fractures. Exclusion criteria included patients with injuries that occurred in an agricultural setting or those with injuries to the knee or hip. All patients were treated by closed means alone. Forty-six of the 51 patients (90%) were treated by nonoperative means; five patients (10%) were treated operatively. The average follow-up was 49.6 months (range, 12-120 months). Thirty patients (88%)

Many effects that are often found in Adobe Photoshop are available to the visitor of this website. Some are free while others are not. The website tells you if an effect or filter is free with a small "free" icon. Click it to display all the available free effects for that effect. Photoshop is a great image editing software that is available for free on the Web. Even though SES users can opt in to receive notifications of when to expect satellites, Jupiter+ spokesperson Rob Nord told SpaceNews it's not absolutely necessary. People with the SES user identification number can log in to their Jupiter+ account and check that box to confirm they want to receive updates. Jupiter+ generally supplies that email notification to users on a monthly basis, but the user can opt in to receive daily updates on whether they have a usable, working connection to the satellite. Jupiter+ expects to provide satellite connectivity for about half of SES's bandwidth needs by the end of 2017, Nord told SpaceNews. The company is working to add more spacecraft to the network as it ramps up, Nord said. "We started out in 2008 with one satellite and we're now ramping up to three by the end of the year," Nord said. "We anticipate that by the end of 2017 we'll be serving more than half of the entire satellite capacity requirements of SES." Two satellites are in orbit at the moment. Jupiter+'s third satellite is the Galaxy 15 satellite, which is scheduled for launch at the end of 2016. Jupiter+'s ability to serve so many individual users of SES satellites is a testament to the sophistication of its system. But the network is also still very much in its infancy, and there are still weaknesses. "It's a big move forward," Nord said. "We're still trying to raise that bar of service, performance and reliability." A great deal of debate has occurred in the past few decades surrounding the various roles of autologous blood transfusions (ABT) in the treatment of orthopedic trauma.^[@bibr1-2325967119868658]^ Some physicians insist that ABT is the "magic bullet" that dramatically decreases the risk of infection and allograft rejection. However, these same providers are quick to point out that ABT is merely
