This invention is related to forming solid shapes or inorganic hard materials. More particularly this invention pertains to methods of forming solid shapes with a defined shape, precise dimensions, and within predetermined ranges of density, specific gravity, and hardness. 2. Description of the Prior Art

The formation of solid shapes by autocatalytic processes is known. For example, in U.S. Pat. No. 3,929,559 issued Dec. 30, 1975 to Kirkhouse et al, a three-stage process for the production of hollow rods is described. The first stage comprises sol-gel mixing, forming and aging the sol-gel mixture to form a solid matrix or gel. The second stage comprises calcining the gel at a temperature above 900.degree. C. to burn out the organics. The third stage comprises leaching to remove the burned-out organics. Further, the production of titanium dioxide by autocatalytic processes is well known in the art, see, e.g., U.S. Pat. Nos. 4,024,070; 4,124,596; 4,124,597; 4,124,598; 4,124,600; 4,124,601; 4,124,602; 4

The plot thickens, as the psychics consider all-new leads: 6 suspects, 6 locations and 6 objects. To help them in this task, the ghost has 42 new vision cards with which to communicate more effectively. Return to the manor your seat at the sance table awaits What is this research about? (This is something you can do to help us!) It has become so easy to get distracted from what really matters in life and to become focussed upon 'things'. As a result, we spend too much time 'doing' than 'being'. A recent TED talk by the renowned thinker, Tony Robbins gives insights and suggestions on how to better manage our time and what makes us happy. He is an expert in the field of peak performance. As someone who is passionate about Time Management, it was fascinating to witness him own up to the fact that even he 'overworks himself'. He says that that is because he is always focussed on the 'now' and he wants to get things done as soon as possible. He shared personal insights on how to change our ways of thinking and being. His clear and effective messages related to: The importance

"Lifeboat" has come and gone. More on that later. The immediate concern for many of us is the impending litigation arising from the government's vulture night. This past Saturday, the US Supreme Court agreed to hear the fate of certain of the provisions of the National Defense Authorization Act ("NDAA"), among them Section 1021. The Defense Secretary's new provision is entitled "Authorization for the Use of Military Force to Prevail Against Certain Targeted Non-State Actors" ("AUMF"). It may not yet show up in the NDAA, but Senator Tim Kaine has already introduced an amendment striking Section 1021 from the NDAA. Whatever it is, and I can't imagine it's much more than a hair's breadth from the current detention provisions of the AUMF, neither it nor the pending litigation is going to satisfy the junior Senator from Virginia: The world is a better place because of Colin Powell's speech and the invasion of Iraq. I hope it will be remembered, with gratitude, as an act which really did save lives. Better, but I would concede to the claim that the world was a lesser place that the Senators, especially Dan Burton, might have us believe, if we weren't agnostic about the very existence of kudzu in Florida and if Jack Palms or Olin-Dudda were still with us. In any event, welcome back, John. I hope that if only you had a deep reservoir of self-regard your "apology" will be accepted. You stand in a line, as the great Melville observed, with Huck, Jacky, and probably Miss Ola, though the threshold at which we might reasonably expect an informed apology will be reached in this instance is not quite made clear. No one expects him, or should I say her, to face troops in a press conference. By his own admission, he did not do the research. This makes it difficult to accept the claim that something other than self-righteous bullying was involved in the effort to make you apologize. That, if I am to believe you, was the sole motivation. So I'm going to remain agnostic on the question of whether what you consider a "public relations disaster" is even worth the candle. I'm here to welcome a successor, and so long as you keep the comment section open, I will have that satisfaction. Anyone commenting here, including you, may please reply. Thank you for exercising the
