that Ms. Schneider even preserved the issue in her brief on appeal. Even if we were to assume that she did, however, the argument is without merit because Ms. Schneider cannot show any prejudice. She did not argue below or on appeal that the discr epancy between the remaining pre-trial stipulation and the amend ed Amended Amended Pre-trial Statement (apparently posted to th e website) prejudiced her case, and we will not consider an argume nt raised for the first time on appeal. See, e.g., Thorne v. City of C handler, 148 F.3d 687, 695 (7th Cir. 1998). The discrepancy in the stipulation is of no moment, because the stipulation was never introduced into evidence, and so any discrepancy is irrelevant. Ms. Schneider's own statements were entered into evidence without objection. Thus, any inconsistency was irrelevant, and we cannot say that the inconsistency was prejudicial to Ms. Schneider. 5
