The combination of a high-energy density and high-power capability hybrid supercapacitor system (HSS) with photovoltaics requires a tether to get maximum and sustained charge and energy delivery. The tether should also be comfortable to wear, long-lasting, and have a low cost of ownership, but not require wired connections. In this work, we describe the use of a novel electronic tether formed by a lithium-ion battery set atop of a solar module to supply power to an HSS for an energy density of 1.8 W h m-2. The integrated system was worn by a young adult male during 45 min of continuous walking, obtaining a sustained power for 105 min and energy delivery for 141 min with an efficiency of 81%, a power-to-energy ratio of 3.3, and no loss of energy due to self-discharge.Q: Change source of master PR to a branch I want to convert a PR to a branch, but master does not have the feature branch I created. I cannot seem to find an option to do this, am I missing something? A: Converting a pull request is called merging. You can also do this by pressing the "+" button on the pull request button. You can find more information about merging in the PR documentation here. Alternatively, you can ask the maintainers of your project to merge your pull request manually (if they decided to adopt your pull request) by commenting at their repository. Update I don't have access to your repo, so I cannot help you with how to request a merge manually, but I have done it in the past. 16The Lord is gracious and merciful, slow to anger and abounding in faithful love.
